

Samuel Huntley &lt;samhuntley84@gmail.com&gt;

---

Availability to discuss CSRF vulnerability.

2 messages

---

Hoelsworth, James <James_Hoelsworth@cable.comcast.com>
To: "samhuntley84@gmail.com" <samhuntley84@gmail.com>

Fri, Jun 10, 2016 at 1:54 AM

Hello Sam,

I received your email address from a contact at Arris. I would like to see what times you have available tomorrow to discuss the finding(s). The team leading this effort is located in Eastern USA (EDT time zone), please reply with some times that work for you and a phone number we can call you at. Thank you for bringing this to our attention.

James Hoelsworth
Sr. Manager, Security Fusion Center
National Security Operations
James\_Hoelsworth@cable.comcast.com

---

Samuel Huntley <samhuntley84@gmail.com>
To: "Hoelsworth, James" <James_Hoelsworth@cable.comcast.com>

Fri, Jun 10, 2016 at 3:57 AM

Hi James,

Tomorrow morning around 11:30 am EST or evening 4:00 pm EST works for me. Also I can call you guys once you confirm the time. Please do let me know the number and the time that works for you. Also I assume this discussion is in regards to both the vulnerabilities mentioned below, right?

1. XSRF
2. Command injection

Thanks,
Samuel Huntley
[Quoted text hidden]